

SHOBACK, Dolores M., M.D., Professor of Medicine, University of California, San Francisco, California, USA.

Place of Birth: New Brunswick, New Jersey, USA

Candidate For: Secretary-Treasurer Elect

Statement of Interest: I have been a member of the ASBMR since I was a postdoctoral fellow in Dr. Ed Brown's lab at Harvard and began attending the Annual Meeting in 1982. The Society has been my scientific and professional home. The ASBMR has outstanding meetings, publications, and opportunities for career development and leadership. These activities and resources have enriched my professional life in immeasurable ways. I have always felt it a great honor to have the chance to give back and serve the Society. I have taken advantage of every volunteer opportunity I have been offered. This has led to service on Council and several committees (Publications, Ethics, Finance, Education, Primer Task Force).

The most exciting opportunity I had was working with ASBMR President Dr. Jane Lian and Co-Chair Dr. Vicki Rosen as the Clinical Chair for the 2010 ASBMR Annual Meeting. Planning this meeting and working with leaders in many of the fields that make up the fabric of the ASBMR (osteoporosis, metabolic bone disease, orthopedics, dental health, endocrinology of bone, signal transduction, and so forth) was an unforgettable experience. Trying to bring the best cutting edge science to the forefront and to serve the members' educational needs made me realize the incredible impact the ASBMR has on the professional lives of scientists, clinicians, trainees, educators, and policy-makers who comprise its membership. It was a humbling experience, but strengthened my desire to stay as involved as I could with the Society.

I welcome the opportunity to serve the Society as Secretary Treasurer. I have the energy to invest in strengthening the fiscal health of the ASBMR, to help guide its financial policies, and to advance the reputation of the Society. I will bring to bear considerable experience from my own university and work with other professional societies to the challenges of the position. My goal is keep our focus on our mission to advance research, education, and clinical care.
